1 map : copper engraving ; 27.5 x 35.4 cm.

The page numbers 400 and 401 are engraved in the upper corners of the plate, which is found between the text pages numbered 400 and 401; another copy of the map, with different page numbers, is in vol. 5 of Purchas (VAULT Ayer 110 P9 1625, v. 5, pp. 436-437).

Chapter 7, sec. 7 (pp. 401-404) relates to this map: The map of China, taken out of a China map, printed with Chinese characters, illustrated with notes, for the understanding thereof. Purchas says the source map came to him via Hakluyt, who got it from Captain John Saris, who... in turn got it from a Chinese person living at Bantam. The original, said to be 4 x 5 feet, was all in Chinese and has been lost. It is very similar to the 1593 map by Cao < >. Letters: Milan, to Henri Harissse, Paris, 1870
May 6-July 2, 1870.
3 ms. items ([6] p.) ; 18 cm. or smaller.
Two signed letters, dated May 6 and July 2, 1870, from Gerolamo Adda in Milan, to Henry Harissse in Paris, concerning new research findings on the Columbus letter of 1493. Adda discusses M. Varnhagen’s recent discovery at the Biblioteca ambrosiana in Milan of a fragment of the letter in Italian, and the impact that this new material will have on the second edition of the Columbus letter in Spanish which Adda is currently preparing. Varnhagen has advised Adda to include this fragment with the documents which will accompany the new edition. In addition, Adda will send Harissse a facsimile of the Italian translation, which is in the process of being printed. Also included is a portion of the envelope addressed to Monsieur Henri Harissse, 28 Rue d’Astory, Paris, with Italian postmarks. Adda’s letter of July 2, 1870 accompanied the photolithographic facsimile of the Italian translation of Columbus’ letter which he sent to Harissse.

Authors: Dudley, Robert, Sir, 1574-1649 -- Guerrini, Benedetto -- Ferdinando II, Grand-Duke of Tuscany, 1610-1670

1 ms. letter ([4] p.) : 27 x 20 cm.

Autograph signed letter, dated March 12, 1643 at the Pitti Palace in Florence, from Robert Dudley, duke of Northumberland, to Benedetto Guerrini, chamberlain to the Grand Duke Ferdinand de' Medici II--to whom the work was eventually dedicated--relating to delays in the publication of Dudley's great sea atlas, the Arcano del mare (1646-1647). Although the Grand Duke authorized the printing more than eight months ago, only three half sheets have been printed so far. Dudley has complained constantly about the delay, and Lucini, the engraver, is now in Florence trying to find out what the problem is. Apparently, the printer blames the publisher, Francesco Rondinelli, a busy man, but also one who refuses any help with the atlas project. Dudley’s friend, Evangelista Torricelli, mathematician and brilliant disciple of Galileo, has offered to help correct the proofs, but Rondinelli has refused. Dudley asks Guerrini to investigate the long delay, to talk to Lucini, and to ask the Grand Duke to expedite the project, or it will never be finished.
