

Borderlands and Latino/a Studies Seminar

2020-2021 CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Submission Deadline: Tuesday, June 30, 2020

This seminar provides a forum for works-in-progress that explore topics in Latino/a and borderlands studies. We seek proposals from individuals or groups for seminar papers or complete panels that examine the interplay of Latino/a people, communities, and culture in the United States; transnational and comparative borderlands studies; migration studies; Latino/a gender and sexuality; changing urban landscapes as a result of Latino/a settlement; civil rights and social movements; and other related topics.

We welcome proposals from scholars working in a broad range of academic fields, and are particularly interested in interdisciplinary approaches. The seminar is open to advanced graduate students, faculty members, and independent scholars. To maximize time for discussion, papers are circulated electronically in advance. The seminar meets on selected Fridays during the academic year, from 3-5pm. All meetings take place at the Newberry Library in Chicago, Illinois. The Newberry is unable to provide funds for travel and lodging for presenters and respondents, but can assist in locating discounted accommodations.

Any questions should be directed to Xóchitl Bada (University of Illinois at Chicago), Geraldo Cadava (Northwestern University), Adam Goodman (University of Illinois at Chicago), and Gema Kloppe-Santamaría (Loyola University Chicago), the coordinators of the seminar, or Mary Hale, Program Manager of Scholarly Seminars at the Newberry.

To submit a proposal, please visit our webform at <https://www.newberry.org/seminar-proposal-form> to upload a one-page proposal, a statement explaining how this paper relates to your other work, and a brief CV. Applications will not be accepted via email.
